  Protocol request from a client computer to a front-end portion; processing the Lightweight Directory Access Protocol request to create a front-end call; sending the front-end call to a back-end portion; processing the front-end call using a default database

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Application/Control Number: 10/004,349

Art Unit: 2154

2. Inventions I and II are related as subcombinations disclosed as usable together in a single combination. The subcombinations are distinct from each other if they are shown to be separately usable. In the instant case, invention I has separate utility such as lacking receiving a Lightweight Directory Access Protocol request from a client computer to a front-end portion; processing the Lightweight Directory Access Protocol request to create a front-end call; sending the front-end call to a back-end portion; processing the front-end call using a default database function to produce a result, wherein the default database function comprises a mapping tree portion to identify a location of information stored in the back-end portion in response to the Lightweight Directory Access Protocol request sent by the client computer. See MPEP § 806.05(d).

Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
